

Albert Lee Wright, Jr. Memorial Migrant Scholarship

Thank you for your interest in the Al Wright Scholarship!

The purpose of this scholarship is to honor a migrant farmworker student who has overcome barriers presented by mobility, has performed well academically, and who has provided service to his/her community.

To be eligible for this scholarship you must:

- Be a migrant student! → You and your family move for agricultural or fishing employment
- Be a dedicated student! → Show us you care and you're willing to work hard! We're looking for academic achievement or improvement in your official transcript
- Be a graduating high school senior → This scholarship is intended for students who will be entering college for the first time
- Demonstrate financial need → We want to make sure this scholarship goes to someone who could really use the help, so you need to estimate how much you think your education will cost and how much you have saved so far.

Sound like you? Then apply! If selected, you will be awarded at least $3,000 to help pay for college.

Submit completed application packet to:

2018 Scholarship Guidelines

Summary:

To honor a migrant farmworker student who has overcome barriers presented by mobility, who has performed well academically, and who has provided service to his or her community. NASDME intends this scholarship (for at least $3000) to go to a mobile student or students who have attended more than one school in a year and/or who have traveled on their own or with a parent or guardian in pursuit of qualifying agricultural, agriculture-related, timber or fishing work in the summer or regular school term. Students who have not moved will not be considered for this scholarship. Scholarships will be given only to graduating high school students entering college for the first time. Students who demonstrate a strong interest in Science, Technology, Engineering, or Mathematics are especially encouraged to apply.

Application requirements:

- Proof of Migrant Education eligibility – (Attach a legible and clear copy of a “Certificate of Eligibility” showing qualification during the past three calendar years or any time during high school). This can be obtained from a local school district through the migrant education staff;
- Two letters of recommendation, at least one of which must be from a school, community or educational agency representative with personal knowledge of the applicant’s character;
- A personal essay of at least 500 words describing the applicant’s background (which includes information about disrupted schooling and barriers presented because of agriculture/fishing-related mobility), the applicant’s career and personal goals, and why he or she should receive this assistance;
- A copy of a high school transcript showing the most recent grades obtained;
- Proof of acceptance and/or enrollment at a post-secondary degree-granting institution.
 - If the student has not yet been accepted to any such institution, the student must provide a list of colleges to which applications have been submitted and the applicant MUST keep the committee informed by e-mail (abranzspall@mt.gov) regarding acceptance as soon as it is received
- Financial need documentation—examples: a copy of the most recent school financial aid form, loan documentation, family tax return (include only the first two pages and black out any Social Security Numbers or ITINs); or other letter from an institution documenting financial aid; or, if these are unavailable, a descriptive narrative regarding the family’s financial need

IMPORTANT REMINDER: Complete Application must be RECEIVED by DEADLINE of Friday, February 23, 2018

No incomplete or late applications will be considered.
Applicants must use THIS year’s form. Please do not use forms from past years.

Who was ALBERT LEE WRIGHT, JR.?

For more than two decades, Al Wright, a native of Louisiana, served as Migrant Education’s voice and as the program’s quintessential advocate.

Long before e-mails and listservs, Al made sure that migrant educators and other farmworker advocates were kept informed about important national and state developments impacting migrant families through the nationally distributed publication, MEMO – Migrant Education Messages and Outlook. Al used his remarkable talent as a journalist to portray to MEMO’s readers the many challenges faced by farmworker families—this nation’s poorest and most disadvantaged people. He was living proof of “the power of the pen”.

Al also served as Migrant Education’s historian and archivist. In addition, he wrote many of the National Association of State Directors of Migrant Education (NASDME) reauthorization position papers and developed much of NASDME’s testimony to Congress on behalf of Migrant Education. He authored or co-wrote many articles for publication, including “Children of the Road: Migrant Students, Our Nation’s Most Mobile Population” commissioned by the Poverty and Race Research Action Council and published by Howard University. Al also co-authored an article entitled “A History of Advocacy for Migrant Children and Their Families: More than 30 Years in the Field” for the book Scholars in the Field, The Challenges of Migrant Education, published by ERIC.

Ensuring access to educational and supportive services for migrant children was a constant and recurrent theme of Al’s work and one to which he remained true throughout his career. After his retirement from many years at the Louisiana Department of Education, Al stayed involved with the Migrant Education Program by accepting a job as NASDME’s special projects and events coordinator. He skillfully staged several of the annual National Migrant Education Conferences, an event with thousands of participants from throughout the nation and the largest conference of its kind dedicated to the improvement of services to migrant children and their families.

Just as the lives of countless children were improved because of Al’s life-long work on their behalf, so too were the lives of hundreds of his colleagues across the country just by having known him. Though he was a man who wrote beautifully on paper, in person Al Wright was a man of few words. But when he spoke, everyone listened. He was an eloquent, always rational speaker; an articulate debater; a true Southern gentleman – in the best sense of the phrase; and a man of the highest integrity and honesty who could not and would not tolerate injustice.
